

Neuroscience Club Minutes
December 1st meeting

The meeting started at 5:30pm. It was mentioned that the amendment to the constitution passed with a total of 15 yeas while 2 people abstained from voting. We also put together the dissections kits, and signed up for times to sell the kits during finals week and the first week of school.

The biggest topic that was talked about was who to bring in for our spring speaker. We have a list of people in order of what we decided upon.

V. Menon is our first choice from Stanford and he deals with music.

V.S. Ramachandran is our second choice from UCSD and he deals with art and the brain.

Ilene Bernstein is our third choice from University of Washington and she deals with alcohol.

Michael D. Beecher is our fourth choice from University of Washington and he deals with songbird patterns, we thought maybe we could ask him if he did anything specific with music and the brain.

The meeting ended at 6:15pm.
