WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY

World Class. Face to Face.

from the books

Classes, studying, and academic activities will take you about 50 hours a week—give or take a few. That leaves plenty of time to get involved and have fun. Join the 16,000+ other undergraduates in activities like these.

Feel the excitement of Pac-10 athletics.

Cheer on the Cougars or compete yourself in any of eleven sports:

- basketball
- baseball
- cross-country
- football
- golf
- rowing
- soccer
- swimming
- tennis
- track and field
- volleyball

See big-name shows. Enjoy on-campus performances by headliners like Elton John, the Harlem Gospel Choir, and Taylor Swift.

Get the mind-body balance. Work out at the award-winning Student Recreation Center: 160,000 square feet equipped for fitness training and fun.

Get involved. Volunteer, spearhead community action, or complete an internship that leads to meaningful change in the world.

Entertainment and culture

Hear influential voices. Recent speakers have included Pulitzer Prize-winning nationally syndicated newspaper columnist Leonard Pitts, Jr. and renowned primatologist Jane Goodall.

Catch dinner and a movie. The cinemas, restaurants, and coffeehouses of downtown Pullman are walking distance from campus.

Sports and recreation

Play hard. The University is home to one of the largest intramural sports programs in the country.

Enjoy outdoor adventures. It's a short drive to spectacular sites for skiing, whitewater rafting, hiking, mountain biking, and more.

Friends and favorite activities

Find a home away from home. You can find leadership opportunities, get academic support, and build strong friendships at each of the four Multicultural Student Centers:

- African American
- Asian American and Pacific Islander
- Chicana/o Latina/o
- Native American

Join a club. Choose from more than 300 student clubs and organizations on campus.

Embrace other cultures.

Share your own traditions or delight in others at annual cultural events, like the Step Show, Pah-Loots-Pu Pow Wow, Mom's Weekend Luau, Semana de la Raza, India Nite, the Matsuri Festival, and the Islamic History and Culture Fair.

A great place to call home.

In your first year, you live on campus alongside other freshmen—students from 50 states and nearly 85 countries. For details, visit livingat.wsu.edu.

Live at the heart of the action.

All residence halls for undergraduates lie within a 10-minute walk from the center of campus. Fraternities and sororities are nearby.

Enjoy the comforts of home.

Residence halls are fully outfitted with lounges, TV rooms, study rooms, kitchens, laundries, and sports equipment.

Apply for admission early!

Priority for residence hall space—including your hall preferences—is based on the date you apply for admission to the University.

Choose a themed hall that fits your interests.

- Freshman Focus. Your neighbors share your course selections, so you study and succeed together.
- Science, engineering, and mathematics. Live alongside classmates who support your achievement.
- Scholars Residence Hall. This intellectually charged community is the choice of many Honors College students.
- Global Learning Community. Take action to help people in developing countries.
- McCroskey International House. Half of your neighbors hail from other nations.

Get meals cooked to order. Newly remodeled residence hall dining centers, including Hillside Café (shown here), serve a diverse menu with old favorites like pizza, as well as international cuisine, healthy entrées, vegetarian items, and more. Many foods come from local, eco-friendly farmers.
